The Catholic view of Martin Luther has changed dramatically over the past centuries. As the Protestant and Catholic Churches grow ever closer on their path "from conflict to communion", churchgoers and the public remain largely unaware of the changed perception of the reformer and the reasons for this change.

This is why the Lutherhaus Eisenach is putting on a special exhibition Heretic, Schismatic, Teacher of the Faith: The Catholic View of Luther on the occasion of the Reformation centenary and commemoration of the in 2017, which examines when and how the Catholic view of Luther changed. The bilingual (German-English) companion volume to the exhibition includes all of its texts, graphics and diagrams as well as a select annotated bibliography.

The lower-priced museum edition available only at the Lutherhaus Eisenach (Lutherplatz 8, 99817 Eisenach). The trade edition can be purchased online from the Eisenach bookstore Leselust (www.leselust-eisenach.de).
